AN OUTRAGEOUS SENTENCE.

The trial of William Moore, this desperate highwayman, who would murder to rob by Sheriff Stone, the counselor was of a man of a few nickels, was set for yesterday. Mr. Prewitt was there to prosecute Moore and to swear positively that he was the man who shot him. He was surprised to the opinion that they belong to the sherili and that the county was not entitled to any part of them. As to executions, that was another matter, and the county was the man who shot him. He was surprised a man of a few nickels, was set for yes-

Moore to plead guilty and accept a sentence of six months in jail.

Moore so crime was peculiarly desperate. The night of November 20, when Conductor G. W. Church and Gripman E. O. Prewitt reached the end of the Eighteenth street line with their train, Moore sprang out of the darkness, and, with a big revolver in his hand, ordered Church to hand over his money. Prewitt selzed a link pin and sprang to assist Church. Moore shot Church in the chest, under the arm, marrowly missing the heart. Then he pointed his revolver at Frewitt and shot him through the leg and leaped from the train and escaped. Later he was arrested and positively identified by Frewitt.

This is queer justice, I call it," said Prewitt yesterday. "I understand they gave a negro woman five years in the penitentiarry yesterday for robbing a man on the public street. Here a man not only tries to rob us, but tries to murder us, too, and gets off with six months in the juil Church and I both laid in bed with our wounds and suffered a good deal, and we come down here and see this thief and murderer get off with six months. Curse the whole outfit," said Prewitt, as he looked avagely at the oaken door of the courtroom, through the crevices of which the strident tones of Prosecutor Lowe's voice in the strident tones of Prosecutor Lowe's voice.

LET DOWN THE BARS. County Court Awards Printing Without Bid or Idea of Its

Cost. The incompetency of the county court and the fact that two of the members of that tribunal have prostituted their official positions for political gain at the expense of the taxpayers of Jackson county, was made apparent yesterday in an order made at Independence, letting the printing of the financial statement of the county to the three Democratic papers of the county. The court, in its order, did not specify the price to be paid for the work, allowing a range of possibilities which could only have a parallel in the loose methods which characterized the order of yesterday.

For the past ten years all of the county courts have adopted the plan of letting the For the past ten years all of the county courts have adopted the plan of letting the financial statement of the county to the lowest bidder, with a view of saving the taxpayers' money. Yesterday Judge Marsh and Judge Chrisman, both of them aspirants for the nomination of presiding judge, and acting in accordance with arrangements made on the day preceding, let down the bars of the treasury and, through the agency of their official positions and desire for political prestige, at the expense of the taxpayers, made the crider letting the county printing without bid or price. The court gloated over its achievement and the two members over-rode the protest of Presiding Judge Stone. When asked why such an ambiguous order was made when public money was used, Judge Chrisman and Judge Marsh die not deign to give any reason, except that the majority of the court had the power to do as it pleased and that the act was legal.

The action of the court yesterday gave rise to the rumor that one of the county judges was interested in a newspaper plant and that the throwing of a few plums of this character was in keeping with the methods used in diverting a public road to run by his land.

According to the statements of accountants in the county clerk's office, no one can possibly tell until the work is compiled how much space will be necessary, and that the work would not be ready for several weeks yet.

Judgo Stone entered an earnest protest yesterday against the generosity of Judge Marsh and Judge Chrisman with the money of Jackson county taxpayers, but was left out, and his protest, beyond being recorded, was not considered.

ORDERS BY COUNTY COURT. Insane List Five Short-License In spector Must Report-Other Orders.

When the county court, in session at Independence, made an order sending insane patients from the poor farm to the asylum eighty-two were in the list, but only seveighty-two were in the list, but only seventy-seven arrived at the Fulton asylum. None of the members of the county court seemed to know yesterday just what was the matter, so they ordered J. C. Lee to make a report as to the shortage.

An order was made by the county court instructing License Inspector Stukenberg to report at once on the number of billiard subcons. None of the members of the county court seemed to know yesterday just what was the matter, so they ordered J. C. Lee to make a report as to the stortage.

Following this order came one for the jail physician to make a ten-mile trip into the country to look after a charity case, and under order of the country court such work has to be free.

in Judge Henry's division of the circuit court. The father of B. D. Stone was sung to have his son reinstated in the order. The history of the case is:

Stone was a member of the order, but hecame sick and could not pay his dues and assessments. The lodge carried him for a year as a charity member, and gave him money besides until he recovered, and then it suspended him. Soon thereafter in 1885, Stone became insane and was sent to the asylum. His father sued to force the lodge to reinstate him, claiming that he was insane before he was suspended, and that the lodge could not suspend an insane man for any cause.

If Stone wins his case his insurance policy of $2,000 in the order will be valid. fey of $2,000 in the order will be valid.

Is Now Officially Insane.

Elizabeth Jane Brant, widow of Major Alf Brant, was adjudged insane yesterday in the probate court. This was a mere formal matter, done to facilitate the settlement of the estate left by Major Brant. Mrs. Brant has been in an insane asylum for years, but had never been adjudged insane by a jury. It was necessary that a jury declare her insane before the court could appoint a guardian to manage her share of the estate. The court will appoint a guardian agreed on later by the heirs of Major Brant.

New Incorporation.

Ash Grove Crystal Lime Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday with Recorder Queai. The capital stock is $2,400. The shares are held by George Chamberlain, David W. Standeford, Will-iam O. Smallwood and John Hymes. The company will do a general lime, cement and sewer pipe business.

MISS ISAACSON'S RIDE.

It Was Taken on an Angry Bull Near the Town of Crystal

Lake, Pa. The people of Dundaff, Pa., are just now telling of the remarkable ride on a bull of Miss Dora Isaacson, of Rahway, N. J., on last Saturday, Miss Isaacson and her friend, Miss Litchenstein, of Newark, are the guests of friends near Crystal Lake. Both young women are fond of animals, and every morning and night finds them in the milking yard watching the herd of cattle. Saturday morning the young women were watching the animals drink from a huge watering trough. In the herd was a Jersey bull. Just for a frolic Miss Isaacson stepped upon the edge of the trough and eaped upon the back of the bull.

With a roar, the animal dashed down a narrow lane and out on the highway, head-ing for the lake. The terrified girl clung to the neck of the animal like a jockey in a race, and every minute expected to be dashed to the ground. For a second the built would stop, paw the icy road and again plunge ahead, with a fierce bellowing

Half a mile ahead appeared a man in a cutter. The driver wore a red scarf, and as soon as the bull caught sight of that, he took it as a challenge and increased his as soon as the buil caught sight of that, he took it as a challenge and increased his speed. The driver saw his danger and put the lash to his horse. For the next mile there was a race, compared with which the rides of Paul Revere and Tam o' Shanter are not worth mentioning. The brave girl, with closed eyes, clung like grim death to the buil, hopping against hope that something would soon occur to save her. The driver of the horse was soon lost to view. From the foot of a long hill, two farmers saw the danger of the girl, and, seizing a long fence rail, held it across the highway. On came the buil and his rider at a mad gait. When within a few rods of the obstruction the buil stopped suddenly, veered around and headed directly for home.

The movement threw Miss Isaacson into a deep snowdrift, from whence, in a dead faint, she was taken by the farmers and carried into a farmhouse. The next day she was able to return to her friends.

Twelve per cent of the total number of pupils in the public schools here are in the high schools, while in St. Louis only 3 per cent are in the high schools.
"The Central high school in Kansas City has the largest enrollment of any high school attended by both boys and girls in the United States," said Professor Green-wood. "There are two girls' high schools in the East with larger attendance."

Beauty in Women.

Beauty in Women.

Beauty in women depends in part upon the proper carriage of the body, and this can only be secured by the correct action of the limbs. If they are not well developed and properly trained there is a proportional loss of beauty. So, too, if the body is unsymmetrically developed the carriage cannot be even and graceful, but uneven and ungraceful. Almost all women have some slight curvature of the spine. This causes one shoulder to be lower than the other, and the result is that the whole body is more or less deformed. One remedy for this is the corset, but this only hides the deformity—does not cure it. The body should be kept straight by its muscles, by its own strength, not by that of steel or whalebone. Beauty is, in part, at least, the result of fullness of physical life, and she who has this will be in physical health and happy and far more beautiful. Ill health is a great foe to beauty.

Died on His Wife's Grave.

Gustave Rolle, 60 years old, attired in svening dress, silk hat and kid gloves, knelt upon the grave of his wife in Forest Home-cemetery, Chicago, in the howling blizzard and sent a bullet into his brain.

Cemetery Superintendent Hawes was surprised to notice when Rolle entered the cemetery that he wore a dress suit.

"You're rather well dressed for a day like this," said Hawes.

POLICE BOARD REFUSES A FEW,OF THE APPLICATIONS.

But It Grants a Whole Raft of Other Licenses to Run Saloons-Police Officers on the Carpet.

P. H. McCrory and J. W. Pryor will not open a saloon at Sixth and Walnut streets just at present. When the police commissioners took up their application for city license yesterday, Mayor Jones called at-tention to the fact that McCrory was un-der indictment for the murder of Fay Madden, and said that he did not think it proper that the license should be issued. Mr. Scarritt was not at the meeting, but Mr. Gregory agreed with the mayor and the application was denied. This being the first meeting of the board

W. H. Johnston, who represents the Gilliss estate, headed a delegation to protest against the granting of a license to D. J. Leary to open a saloon at 778 Charlotte. After hearing from the parties concerned, the board declined to grant the license. Vigorous protests were on file against granting licenses to P. H. Wexeldorfer, at 2914 Wyoming street. These applications were continued over to the next meeting.

C. H. & W. H. Ragsdale, the 731 Bluff street saloonkeepers, were ordered to appear before the board February 4 to show cause why their license should not be forfeited for violations of city ordinances. It was these parties, who, it is alleged, recently had the prospective Klondiker. Smith, in tow when he was rescued by Officer Casey, Police Sergeant O. T.
